The local food in Tochigi
 There are many kinds of local food in Tochigi. So, I will introduce the food. First, it is Gyoza. In the past, it was the amount of being eaten in Japan. The first was Hamamatsu in Shizuoka. But the first is Utsunomiya now. Its ingredients are wrapped by thin wrapping. There are many Gyoza stores in Utsunomiya. For example, Minmin, Masashi, etc.
 Second, it is Shimotukare. When I was a junior high school student, I liked it. But now, I don't like it because it smells of alcohol, and its appearance is not good. But I think it to continue to be eaten in Tochigi.

Carbonnanotube
 "Carbonnanotube" is attracting attention now. I'll tell you the reason easily.
 First, "Carbonnanotube" consists of carbon. Do you know allotrope? You should have learned it in the chemistry class. "Carbonnanotube" is a kind of allotrope and it is also thought that "Carbonnanotube" is a kind of fullerence. But how the elements combine is different from the ways of others. In "Carbonnanotube," the combination of carbon is much stronger than that of any elements. So "Carbonnanotube" is not easily broken. Now, I'll tell you how to make "Carbonnanotube." There is graphenesheet whose combination of carbon is the same. And people make graphenesheet of cylindrical shape. Also "Carbonnanotube" is a good conductor. Therefore, "Carbonnanotube" is expected to many things. "Carbonnanotube" is the most useful material of all time. Some scientists say such a useful material will never be found. Writing in simple words, I cannot tell you everything about "Carbonnanotube." So if you are interested in this article, please study it.

The Charms of Nikko
 Did you see a total eclipse of the sun last year? Of course, I saw it. It is the moment when the earth, the moon and the sun stood straight in a line. I was surprised to see it, since the sun turned dark and the view became darker and darker. The beauty was beyond description. By the way, there will be a heavenly body show at the end of November. Do you know the "ISON comet"? some already have known it while others have not known it yet, so I will introduce it to you. It was found by Vitaly Nevsky and Artem Novichonok who worked at International Scientific Optical Network at Kislovodsk Observatory. Also, it is observed as a dark heavenly body. But when it reached Jovian orbit, the team confirmed it as a very bright comet. It will become a big comet whose brightness is superior to the Venus and a full moon on November 28th. It gives off about 1000 ton of gases which consists of carbon dioxide and about 54 thousand ton of dust. If its orbit change, we cannot see it afresh. In other words, this chance is a special occasion I do think that you have no choice but to see the "ISON comet" Let's see it together. You cannot miss it.

Abandoning nuclear power plant
 Mr. Koizumi, who is our former prime minister, said that we should eliminate nuclear power plans. When he was being prime minister, he was promoting nuclear power plants. I think, perhaps, he thought that it could make a large amount of electricity and that we could not cover the supply of electric power in this country without them. But now that he has retired from the political world, he started to say things like that. But against his statement, Mr. Ishiba said "If there are no concrete plans which can prepare methods and time to eliminate it, abandoning nuclear power is just a slogan." Also Mr. Hashimoto said "Only phrase is not. We need to gather some specialists and make a work schedule.2 Sure enough, members of the Diet do a great deal for the economic world because they have already known that abandoning nuclear power generation is very difficult in this situation. Whatever they happen from now on, we cannot take one eyes off.

"Ordinary Drugs Can Cause Automobile Accidents"
 Each year, thousands of people die in automobile accidents which ordinary drugs cause. Contrary to the stereotypes, most victims are not the quick-tempered who are abusing drugs, but prudent men and women who are taking prescription drugs for genuine health problems. For instance, a woman who was taking an antidepressant along with another prescription medication drove her car into a boy who was riding his bicycle in the daylight. All kinds of medications have been charged as potential accident-causers. Some can make you sleepy and inattentive, destroy your judgment and slow down your reaction. Others can make you feel overconfident and lead you to reckless behavior, such as disregarding speed limits and waving in and out of traffic.
 Shockingly little research has been done on driving under the influence of prescription drugs, because many police officers measure only alcohol consumption. Two years ago, a sixty-year-old man was charged with a drunken driving. The officer recalls, "The man did not speak clearly and lost his balance. It was a classic sign of drunkenness. However, it turned out he had simply been taking blood-pressure medication along with a tranquilizer."
 If a single medication can pose problems, mixtures can be more dangerous. But combining drugs is very common today – especially among the elderly. We need to ask our doctors or pharmacists for advice or warnings in taking drugs.

Japanese Humane heart
 Let me tell you about a humane story. It happened when I was going home by bicycle after "Nikko Road" on Saturday. That day, I had to go home early because I had a plan to go to Sendai, Miyagi Prefecture. So before I reached there, I had already asked for permission to leave school. I was riding a bicycle along the Odori. I found it good that I walked 37 or 38km this year, too. I was fine, then. Suddenly I slipped and fell down when I started to go into a quite ease slope on which cars are generally coming in and out. I was surprised, only to do nothing. I bled from my ring finger a little. My legs were not operated for a short time. Some adults went by me. Then, I somehow stood up and to my surprise, two high school students came before me and said, "What's up?" I was very impressed by them. I was glad and only said, "I'm sorry. Very sorry." I felt shame and left the place soon without saying "Thank you very much." I should have said not an apology but such an appreciation. I was embarrassed. But their existence certainly warmed my heart. If possible, I want to express my appreciation to them.

Nazonazo

Q.Yuzo has some friends. One day his friends Yuichi and Yuji called him. "Hi Yuzo, I'm Yoichi. I bought my own house. So, why don't you come to see my new house?" "Hi Yuzo, I'm Yuji. I bought my own house. So, why don't you come to see my new house? Yuichi is a very honest person. He never tells a lie. Yuji is a big liar. He never tells a truth. Yuichi's house is a normal one. But the house of Yuji is very dangerous. Yuzo didn't know which house is safe. But he could ask them only one question. (Yuichi and Yuji can only tell him yes or no ) What kind of question should Yuzo ask two men to know which house is safe? -----A. "Will the person other than you tell me that his house is safe?"
